Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is a powerful, invigorating tonic, imparting health and strength in particular to the organs distinctly feminine. The local, womanly health is so intimately related to the general health that when diseases of the delicate womanly organs are cured the whole body gains in health and strength. For weak and sickly women who are "worn-out," "run-down" or debilitated, especially for women who work in store, office or schoolroom, who sit at the typewriter or sewing machine, or bear heavy household burdens, and for nursing mothers, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has proven a priceless benefit because of its health-restoring and strength-giving powers.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine. "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea, or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the womanly organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Cures obstinate cases. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of "female weakness," painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the pelvic organs, weak back, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration.

Dr. Pierce's medicines are made from harmless but efficient medical roots found growing in our American forests. The Indians knew of the marvelous curative value of some of these roots and imparted that knowledge to some of the friendlier whites, and gradually some of the more progressive physicians came to test and use them, and ever since they have grown in favor by reason of their superior curative virtues and their safe and harmless qualities.

Your druggists sell the "FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomach tonic, the "GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

APPEARING OLD

Acts as a Bar to Profitable Employment.

You cannot afford to grow old.

In these days of strenuous competition it is necessary to maintain, as long as possible ones youthful appearance.

It is impossible to do this without retaining a luxurious growth of hair.

The presence of Dandruff indicates the presence of a burrowing germ which lives and thrives on the roots of the hair until it causes total baldness.

Newbro's Herpicide is the only known destroyer of this pest, and it is as effective as it is delightful to use.

Herpicide makes an elegant hair dressing as well as Dandruff cure.

Accept no substitute—there is none.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c. in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Two sizes—50 cents and $1.00.

PAIN

Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause. Pain is congestion, pain is blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet. That tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablet—coaxes blood pressure away from pain centers. Its effect is charming, pleasingly delightful. Gently, though safely, it surely equalizes the blood circulation.

If you have a headache, it's blood pressure.

If it's painful periods with women, same cause.

If you are sleepless, restless, nervous, it's blood congestion—blood pressure. That surely is a certainty, for Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop it in 20 minutes, and the tablets simply distribute the unnatural blood pressure.

Bruise your finger, and doesn't it get red, and swell, and pain you? Of course it does. It's congestion, blood pressure. You'll find it where pain is—always. It's simply Common Sense.

We sell at 25 cents, and cheerfully recommend

Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets

THE SHOOTING OF POSEY.

A warrant for the arrest of Mrs. Mary E. Bowie, who lived near Hilltop, Charles county, Md., was issued at La Plata, yesterday. She is charged with the murder of Herbert Posey, whom she shot on Friday last because she believed he betrayed her daughter, Priscilla Bowie, aged 21, under the promise of marriage.

Henry Bowie, aged 23, the eldest son of Mrs. Bowie, is in jail, and will be charged with being an accessory to the shooting. Mrs. Bowie had been out on $1,000 bail but when it was learned that Posey had died in a Washington hospital State's Attorney Wilmer took immediate steps to have her placed in custody.

When told that Posey was dead Mrs. Bowie said: "I am sorry Bert is dead. I pleaded with him to right a wrong, and I told him if he did not do it, I would shoot him. He laughed at me and said: 'Shoot as much as you d—— please,' and then he struck me in the breast three times and started to run. He was about 10 feet away when I fired, but he went on and I fired again. Then Henry said: 'I don't think you hit him, mother, and he raised his gun and sent a load after Bert, who fell in the road. I did what I thought was right"

Continuing Mrs. Bowie said;

"Bert came into our home and made love to 'Sis' and went further and has broken her heart. I met him near the bridge over Mattawoman Creek, near Indian Head, Friday afternoon. I talked to him and begged him to do what was right. I told him that if he would marry 'Sis' I would pay the expenses of the wedding, buy the license, pay the minister and all that. I told him, too, that if he did not love 'Sis' and did not care to live with her, that it would be all right; but he must do the girl justice. I told him also, if he would only keep his pledge to 'Sis' that I would fill his dinner kettle for him each day and would work and strive to make him and her happy. But he only laughed at me. His brother, Augustus, rode up at this time as word must have been sent to him that Henry and I were talking to Bert on the road. He, too, laughed at me and told Bert to come with him. He rode off. Then, when I found Bert would not keep his promise, I took hold of the end of his coat and begged him for God's sake to think well of what he was doing. He saw the pistol in my hand at my side, and still he laughed at me and dared me to shoot. Then he said something awful about 'Sis,' and, pulling away from me, struck me three times in my breast. It hurt, but the other hurt was worse, and when I saw him getting away, I fired."

Priscilla Bowie almost swooned when she heard that her sweetheart was dead. She wept and moaned as she rocked in her chair or walked about the room in the little Hilltop cottage.

Mrs. Bowie was arraigned Saturday before Justice Geo. M. Carpenter at Ironside, near Indian Head. Mrs. Bowie is about 50 years old, and in addition to her son Henry, and Priscilla, who is known as "Sis," she has six other children. When the constable read the warrant to her at her home she was perfectly self-possessed and put on her wraps to go.

Before Judge Carpenter she acknowledged shooting Posey and said that she felt that there was an unwritten law based on the teachings of the Bible which told her to take an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth. After she had been released on bond she went to her home and her son, Henry, was put in charge of a constable.

Posey and Miss Bowie were to have been married last Thanksgiving Day, but after the guests had assembled the prospective bridegroom failed to appear.

Alleged Murders in Hospital

Three murders have been committed in the Dixmont Hospital for the Insane at Dixmont, Pa., according to testimony given by a man who says he was an eye witness to them, at Saturday's session of the Legislative Lunacy Commission. One of the men killed, the witness swore, was literally boiled alive in one of the tubs of the hospital. Another was jumped upon and killed because he would not obey some orders of one of the keepers. The third was killed in much the same manner.

Andrew Huston, for three years an inmate of the asylum, but now pronounced cured, was the witness making the charges. He declared that he was present at each of the deaths of the patients.

The superintendent sent for the records and these showed that deaths of three patients had occurred on the days mentioned by Huston. The names were the same and the manner of death, as described upon the records, was "exhaustion."

No word of these deaths ever filtered to the outside world. The hospital authorities have always maintained an air of mystery that accords well with the gloomy aspect of the hospital buildings. Even the records of the coroner of the county tell no part of the tale.

Not until Saturday had the true facts back of the escape of the young matricide, Bertha Beilstein, leaked from the institution. It was clearly due to the faithlessness of two of the nurses of the hospital that this woman was allowed to leave the hospital.

The Marlboroughs.

The conferences which have recently been going on between relatives, lawyers, and others concerning the differences between the Duke and Duchess of Marlborough have resulted in an arrangement by which their affairs will not be brought before the courts and a separation will be effected, so as to avoid publicity and without a divorce.

According to the present arrangement, the Duke and Duchess will live apart, the Duke retaining Blenheim Palace, entirely, and continuing to enjoy the $100,000 a year settled upon him by the Duchess' family, with the custody of their two sons six months each year, the control of their education until they become of age and the choice of their professions. On the other hand, the Duchess will enjoy the use of the Marlborough family jewels and will have precedence as a duke's wife, with the right to take her two sons with her to any part of the Continent during their holidays, but without interfering with their studies after the age of 14. It is also said that the agreement exacts that the boys shall not be taken to America for an extended period until they reach the age to choose a place of residence for themselves.

Attempted to Drown Young Woman.

Sheriff Bradwaters, of Scott county, went to Bristol yesterday in search of Clyde McGhee, a young man whose home is said to be in Bedford county. The sheriff holds a warrant for McGhee, charging him with having attempted Saturday night to murder Mabel Heatherlin, a seventeen-year-old crippled girl, daughter of A. J. Heatherlin, a well-to-farmer, residing at Speers Ferry. The father of the girl charges that McGhee wronged his daughter, and then in order to cover up the crime threw her into Clinch river Saturday night, intending to drown her. The approach of other persons, it is alleged, caused McGhee to flee from the scene, and the girl was rescued. Heatherlin has offered a reward for the apprehension of McGhee. McGhee, it is said, is well connected in Virginia. He had employment connected with railway construction in Scott county.

In like manner Kenneth McIver, of Vanceboro, Me., permitted a little cold to go unnoticed until a large tragic finish was only averted by Dr. King's New Discovery. He writes: "Three doctors gave me up to die of lung inflammation caused by a neglected cold; but Dr. King's New Discovery saved my life.' Guaranteed best cough and cold cure at E. S. SIC SEMPER TYRANNIS
AND VIRGINIA ADVERTISER

MONDAY EVENING, JAN. 21, 1907.

THE ANNUAL BANQUET of R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans last Saturday night was, as usual, the last act in the celebration of the birthday of that distinguished Virginian, Robert E. Lee, a greater than whom has never flourished in ancient or modern times. The members of the camp, with their sons and a number of their friends, gathered around the festal board, which had been prepared by ladies whose labors of love for ex-Confederate soldiers has been untiring, They girded themselves and served the company which added considerably to the enjoyment of the occasion. The speeches were made exclusively by Alexandrians, and each was perfectly at ease, fluent and unembarrassed, which is the real pith of such reunions. Most of the addresses were virtually impromptu, but there was a flow of soul which animated all present. The opening remarks of Mr. W H. May, who presided and acted as the toastmaster of the occasion; the speech of Mr. J. M. Johnson on the "Confederate Soldier;" that of Mr. C. C. Carlin on the "Sons of Veterans;" Rev. C. C. Bulla's tribute to "General Robert E. Lee," and that of Mr. S. G. Brent to the "Wearer of the Gray," were all that could have been desired. The reunion of 1907 will long be referred to as one of the most interesting that has been given by R. E. Lee Camp.

THE recent earthquake shocks in Jamaica were bad enough in all conscience, but there have been exaggeration and misrepresentation of the effects of that seismic disturbance. The story that an old volcano on the island had reopened proves to have been entirely without foundation. The rumor that a tidal wave had made mischief on the north shore has been denied. For the report that Kingston was slipping into the sea there was at least some excuse, but it was essentially false. The only subsidence of the surface which has been well attested up to the present time occurred at Port Royal, where some of the harbor defences were situated, and where a similar phenomenon was observed two centuries ago. Some of the big guns on the Port Royal sand spit are said to have sunk several feet. As for the waterfront of the city proper, there is yet no reason to think that its level has been appreciably changed. It would not be surprising if there had been trifling alterations in the depth of the harbor itself, but these are quite as likely to prove favorable to commerce as embarrassing. Owing to the displacement of a lighthouse a few miles distant vessels have been deprived of an important landmark, and two or three have already gone ashore in consequence. That fact certainly has no discouraging significance. The number of killed and wounded is also said to have been exaggerated and it is stated that the Governor of Jamaica has practically declined every form of relief offered by Admiral Davis, of the United States navy, although it was believed to be greatly needed. Why some people try to make more of a calamity than there really is in it is hard to explain; but this is an age of exaggeration.

THE White House, it is reported, on Saturday threw down the gauge to the republican senators, and there has been an abrupt change in the Brownsville situation. The President that afternoon indicated to his friends that he saw in the opposition to the Blackburn amendment a renewal of the old fight republicans have been making on him ever since he entered upon his present office. He said he does not assume to dictate to the Senate, but, nevertheless, thinks a test of strength should come. An important party fight is now on. Realizing that the same element in his party which he defeated in the railroad rate bill fight is again trying to humiliate him, the President has determined to make the adoption of the Blackburn amendment a test of strength. Some Senators now on the fence must show their hands and it is more than probable that Mr. Roosevelt will win out again, as those in his party who are opposing him hate him, yet they are afraid of him, for they realize that he can be their unmaking.

From Washington.

Washington, Jan. 21.

At the State Department on the part of the highest officials on duty there —Secretary Root being absent in Canada —there was a disposition today to suggest the possibility of blame on the part of Admiral Davis in landing marines from his ships. It was declared that he had no right to land these men to guard the American consulate, without the express permission of the Jamacai authorities and, if he did put the men ashore without first obtaining this permission, he has violated a rule of international law and should be held accountable. At the Navy Department, however, it is stated that Admiral Davis cabled some days ago that he was requested by the city officials of Kingston to land a detachment of men to assist in maintaining order at the penitentiary, where an outbreak was momentarily expected. It is also believed that he took no steps looking to the landing of men to guard the consulate until he had received the necessary permission.

The first official information to reach this government concerning the withdrawal of the American warships from Kingston came to the Navy Department this morning in a telegram from Capt. Beehler, commandant of the naval station at Key West, who stated that Rear Admiral Evans sent the following from Guantanamo by wireless: "Missouri, Indiana and Yankton returned here." As no hour or other date was mentioned in the dispatch the Navy Department is without information as to the exact time the ships left Kingston. With the withdrawal of these vessels there are no American ships in British waters about Jamaica at the present time.

Officials of the government here are astounded over the developments at Kingston which have made the withdrawal of Admiral Davis's squadron necessary. In fact, at the State Department, doubt was expressed that Governor Swettenham had written such a letter as that attributed to him in the press dispatches. Up to an early hour this morning no confirmation had been received of the details of the incident from Admiral Davis. although it is assumed that he has filed a report to the Navy Department. There is absolutely no criticism of the course taken by the admiral.

The language of the Governor's letter to Admiral Davis is so extraordinary that it can be explained in no other way than on the assumption that he has so been overwrought by the trying experiences of the last few days as to have lost his head.

Navy Department officials do not hesitate to characterize the action of Governor Swettenham, of Jamaica, as insulting to a degree. They resent most bitterly the terms of his letter to Rear-Admiral Davis, and declare that such conduct is deserving of international recognition.

No further details of the incident between Admiral Davis and Governor Swettenham have been received. The officials of the State Department continue to preach caution in any reference to this matter which, they declare, needs, if true, to be treated with great delicacy to prevent a serious international breech between the United States and Great Britain. Acting Secretary of State Bacon, who last night characterized the whole story of the withdrawal of Admiral Davis' fleet as untrue, finally admitted this morning when faced with the confirmatory dispatch received by the Navy Department announcing the arrival of the ships from Kingston at Guantanamo, that he had been aware of the departure of the vessels yesterday but even now had no knowledge of any difficulty between Governor Swettenham and Admiral Davis.

It is announced officially that the United States government will not ask Great Britain to discipline the governor of Jamaica for the discourtesy which resulted in the withdrawal of the American warships from Kingston. Said a high official of the State Department today: "The mere fact that one British governor has shown his bad temper will not prevent us from extending aid in other cases should it in our judgment be needed."

Mr. Howard, chargo d'affaires of the British Embassy, said today that if the press dispatches regarding the Swettenham-Davis incident were true, "it was a most regrettable affair." The Embassy was without any official advices on the subject. Mr. Howard has an appointment for a conference with Assistant Secretary of State Bacon this afternoon to discuss the matter.

Rear Admiral Evans has cabled that the full report of Rear-Admiral Davis, who commanded the American squadron at Kingston, has been sent by mail. The President has determined that should later developments confirm the press dispatches concerning the insulting letter written to Admiral Davis by Governor Swettenham, of Jamaica, this government will make no representations whatever to Great Britain, but will simply ignore the incident.

Mr. Tillman gave Mr. Spooner a verbal castigation today in the Senate in a sensational speech. It was in reply to a recent speech of the Wisconsin Senator who denounced the South Carolinian for advocacy of lynch law. Among other things the Senator said: "My position on lynching has been purposely misrepresented and the Senator from Wisconsin has assumed to himself the right to arraign me in this body and to pass judgment of condemnation in most biting and vindictive phrase. It is not worth while to ask who made John C. Spooner my keeper or gave him the right to assume this hectoring and masterful attitude. With a self righteousness that is characteristic of his breed he dons the robe of the Pharisee, spreads broad his phylacteries, and calls up the Senator from South Carolina for sentence and pronounces his decree." Mr. Tillman drew a hypothetical picture of a daughter of the Wisconsin Senator meeting with shameful treatment at the hands of a negro fiend, and said, "This young girl thus blighted and brutalized drags herself to her father and tells him what has happened. Is there a man here with red blood in his veins who doubts what impulse the father would feel? Is it any wonder that the whole country side rises as one man and with set, stern faces seeks the brute who has wrought this infamy? Yes, worse than a brute. It has been left for something in the shape of a man to do this terrible thing. And shall such a creature, because he has the semblance of a man, appeal to the law? Shall men cold-bloodly stand up and demand for him the right to have a fair trial and be punished in the regular course of justice? So far as I am concerned he has put himself outside the pale of the law, human and divine. He has sinned against the Holy Ghost. He has invaded the Holy of Holies. He has struck civilization a blow."

The U. S. Supreme Court today issued an order that the persons accused of contempt of court in connection with the lynching at Chattanooga, of Ed. Johnson, should give bail of $1,000 for their further appearance in connection with the case. Ten days was given counsel on both sides to agree on a fit person to be appointed by the court to take testimony in the case at Chattanooga.

Mr. Cullom tried today to force the Senate to a vote on the House amendment to the legislative appropriation bill raising the salaries of Senators and congressmen to $7,500 a year. Upon the request of Mr. Berry the question went over until tomorrow.

GEN. LEE'S BIRTHDAY.

The one hundredth anniversary of the birth of Robert E. Lee was celebrated Saturday in nearly every city and town in Virginia and in a manner never before attempted. Similar celebrations were also held throughout the South in Washington, Baltimore, New York and in a number of northern cities.

In Richmond, the feature of the day consisted of services at St. Paul's Episcopal Church, where Bishop A. M. Randolph delivered a sermon on General Lee before an audience that filled the building. At night all the Confederate camps, of Richmond and Manchester, together with the ladies' patriotic organizations, assembled at Lee Camp Hall, where ex-Governor Montague and Colonel R. E. Lee, jr., of Fairfax, were among the speakers. Crosses of honor were afterward bestowed on two score of veterans.

At night, the Men's Club, of the Second Baptist Church, held Lee memorial exercises. Dr. Thomas Nelson Page made the principal address. Edward V. Valentine, the sculptor, gave reminiscences of General Lee.

One of the principal events of the day, in Virginia, was the special address, at Lexington, by Charles Francis Adams, of Boston, a union veteran of the war and formerly a sympathizer with prevalent northern sentiment against Lee. He declared that in 40 years, since the war, he had changed many of his opinions. In part he said:

"Coming directly to the point, I maintain that every man in the eleven states seceding from the Union had, in 1861, whether he would or no, to decide for himself whether to adhere to his state or to the nation; and I finally assert that, whichever way he decided, if only he decided honestly, putting self-interest behind him, he decided right.

"Paradoxical as it sounds, I contend, moreover, that this was indisputably so. It was a question of sovereignty—state or national; and from a decision of that question there was, in a seceded state, escape for no man. Yet when the national constitution was framed and adopted that question was confessedly left undecided; and unintentionally so left. More than this, even, the federal constitution was theoretically and avowedly based on the idea of a divided sovereignty, in utter disregard of the fact that when a final issue is presented sovereignty does not admit of division.

"Speaking advisedly and on full reflection I say that of all the great characters of the civil war, and it was productive of many whose names and deeds posterity will long bear in recollection, there was not one who passed away in the serene atmosphere and with the gracious bearing of Lee. From beginning to end those parting years of his will bear closest scrutiny. It is pleasant to catch glimpses of the erstwhile commander in that quiet Virginia life. There is in the picture something altogether human—intensely sympathetic."

Governor Swanson was the chief speaker at Richmond on Saturday night at a big Lee memorial celebration held in the Academy of Music, under the auspices of the Confederate Veterans and the Daughters of the Confederacy.

In Baltimore at noon memorial services were held in St. Paul's Church under the auspices of Maryland Division United Confederate Veterans, and the members of each of the four camps in the city attended in a body. Gov. Edwin Warfield, accompanied by Adjutant General Clinton L. Riggs, was also present. Among the speakers was Col. Edmund Berkeley, of Prince William county, Va. Dr. A. B. Kinsolving preached the sermon.

Rev. Dr. W. M. Dame, rector of Memorial Episcopal Church, conducted the ritualistic portion of the service.

Three thousand persons packed the Maryland Theatre, in the afternoon, including many veterans, to pay tribute to the memory of Gen. Lee. The exercises were held under the auspices of the Society of the Army and Navy of the Confederate States in Maryland. The orator of the occasion was Senator Daniel, of Virginia, who made a most eloquent address and paid a beautiful tribute to General Lee. At night there was a banquet when many speeches eulogistic of General Lee were made.

The centenary anniversary of the birth of Lee was elaborately celebrated Saturday night at the New Willard in Washington, under the auspices of local representatives of Southern societies and in the presence of a distinguished audience. Hon. Hillary Herbert presided, and addresses were delivered by senator Berry, of Arkansas; Associate Justice Brewer and Representative John Sharp Williams.

President Roosevelt was unable to attend, but sent a letter paying high tribute to the personal character and public career of Lee, and praised him not only for his dauntless courage, but for his greatness of soul.

He said in part: "The courage and steadfast endurance, the lofty fealty to the right as it was given to each man to see the right, whether he wore the gray or whether he wore the blue, now makes the memories of the valiant feats alike of those who served under Grant and of those who served under Lee precious to all good Americans.

"General Lee has left us the memory not merely of his extraordinary skill as a general, his dauntless courage and high leadership in campaign and battle, but also of that serene greatness of soul characteristic of those who most readily recognize the obligations of civic duty. There is no need to dwell on General Lee's record as a soldier. The son of Light Horse Harry Lee, of the Revolution, he came naturally by his aptitude for arms and command. His campaigns put him in the foremost rank of the great captains of all time. But his signal valor and address in war are no more remarkable than the spirit in which he turned to the work of peace once the war was over. Such is the career that you gather to honor, and I hope that you will take advantage of the one hundredth anniversary of General Lee's birth by appealing to all our people in every section of this country to commemorate his life and deeds by the establishment at some great representative educational institution of the South a permanent memorial, that will serve the youth of the coming years as he, in the closing years of his life, served those who so sorely needed what he so freely gave."

Twenty Year Battle.

"I was a loser in a twenty-year battle with chronic piles and malignant sores, until I tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve; which turned the tide, by curing both, till not a trace remains," writes A. M. Bruce, of Farmville, Va. Best for old Ulcers, Cuts, Burns and Wounds. 25c at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

Today's Telegraphic News

THE KINGSTON INCIDENT.

Havana, Jan. 21.—The steamer Mariette, which arrived last night at Santiago from Guantanamo, reported speaking the battleships Missouri and Indiana returning from Kingston. The Mariette put in at Santiago to load the tents and portable houses in the American camp at Moro Castle to take them to Kingston.

Order has been restored at Kingston according to latest advices received here. Medicines and provisions are all that are now needed. The steamer Halifax has arrived here and will sail for Kingston today.

New York, Jan. 21.—Passengers from the ill-fated city of Kingston, arriving today, on the fruit steamer Baker, expressed no surprise when told of Governor Swettenham's action in ordering Admiral Davis and the American sailors off the island of Jamacia.

"That is just what I would expect from a man like him," said Max Magnus, who was in Kingston when the earthquake occurred. "I saw him strutting about in jackboots, the picture of absurdity. The Americans were doing more than his force to right matters."

London, Jan. 21.—A special dispatch to the Evening Standard from Kingston, states there is the keenest resentment throughout the stricken city of the governor's determination to rehabilitate Kingston without American aid. The dispatch says that while the American officers were undoubtedly chagrined at Governor Swettenham's refusal to accept their kindly services, they maintained a dignified attitude and insisted that there was no friction.

As typifying the sentiment of the people of Kingston, the Mayor of Kingston went to Admiral Davis just before his departure and on behalf of the citizens disclaimed all responsibility for the Governor's action, at the same time condemning it in the harshest terms. The Mayor requested Admiral Davis to remain at Kingston, but this the latter declined to do.

Governor Swettenham threatened to arrest Mr. Magnus, a leading King street merchant, unless he desisted from using American marines to help in clearing his store.

Famine now seems remote, as large quantities of food are coming in from the country. The police cordon has been removed.

London, Jan. 21.—England is aflame with indignation today over the action of Governor Swettenham, in refusing the kindly and friendly offices of Admiral Davis of the United States fleet, which rushed to the aid of the stricken city of Kingston.

In every quarter is heard mutterings which portend the recall of the tactless and witless Governor.

Not a word of blame is voiced against Admiral Davis by the British press today. The English newspapers either withhold judgment or openly condemn Swettenham and brand his blunder as a piece of blockheadedness.

All the London dailies express the hope editorially that a common sense view of the incident will prevail in the United States and that the blunder of an individual will not be allowed to cool the present strong Anglo-American friendship. All London newspapers today notified their New York correspondents to minimize the international aspect of the incident and treat the matter as a personal one with Swettenham. The Globe alone defends Governor Swettenham.

A stinging message was today sent Swettenham by the Earl of Elgin, the Colonial Secretary, directing him to telegraph all the facts in the case immediately. Until the Governor's reply is received the Colonial office will say nothing of the incident. The general opinion is that Elgin will disavow Swettenham who will probably be asked to resign.

A prominent member of the government who for obvious reasons cannot be quoted, in discussing the incident, to the correspodent of the Publishers Press said:

"Swettenham has always suffered from a swelled head. All the thirty-nine years of his official life have been spent in Cyprus, Ceylon, Singapore, and other posts where the lower civilization prevailed. He was thus encouraged to develop his naturally autocratic character, and when the first big crisis of his career arose he was unable to rise above his petty personalities. He tried to play the Czar with disastrous results."

Charges Against Senator Bailey.

New York, Jan. 21.—In a sensational article published today the New York American returns to its attack on Senator Bailey of Texas, accusing him of having been in the employ of the Standard Oil trust, through its subsidiary company, the Waters-Pierce Oil Company, and declaring he well knew who was his real employer. Photographs of vouchers accounting for money received by Bailey are printed.

The revelations are based upon statements made by J. P. Gruet, for seventeen years secretary of the Waters-Pierce Company. Gruet, it is stated, will be a witness before the committee of the Texas legislature that will investigate Senator Bailey's connection with the Waters-Pierce Company.

After specifying a number of charges it is alleged that as part of Senator Bailey's reward, he received the dividends on one hundred shares of the Waters-Pierce Company's stock. One payment of these dividends, it is said, amounted to $12,500. Mr. Gruet estimates that for three years Bailey received over $65,000 annually in such dividends. Many of the documents involving Bailey, it is stated, are now in the hands of the attorney-general of Texas.

Austin, Texas, Jan. 21.—Formal charges have been filed with the committee appointed to investigate Senator Bailey's alleged transactions with the Waters-Pierce Oil Co. and H. Clay Pierce. It is said that Bailey received all told a million dollars in his various connections.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 21.—It is possible that the United States may yet have to investigate Senator Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas. The publication in a New York paper today of fac-similes of the documents showing payments to Senator Bailey from the Waters-Pierce Oil Co., created great interest here.

The Strothers' Trial.

Culpeper, Va., Jan. 21.—Preliminary steps were taken today looking to an indictment in the Strother case. The case is that of James A. and Philip Strother, who shot to death William F. Bywaters just after his forced marriage to their sister, Viola Strother.

Judge A. M. Aiken, of Danville, today issued a summons for the impaneling of a grand jury at whose hands an indictment of the Strother men will be sought. Judge Aiken is presiding at the request of Judge Grimsley, who is a relative of the dead Bywaters.

Charles M. Waite, prosecuting attorney for this county, has declined, for personal reasons, to prosecute the case, and has selected in his place Commonwealth's Aattorney Kent for Fauquier county, who, with Capt. Micajah Woods, of Charlottesville, will conduct the prosecution.

For the defense the following lawyers are here: Former Senator John L. Jeffries, now of Norfolk; John L. Lee, of Lynchburg, and Walton Moore, of Fairfax.

It is not believed that the trial of the Strothers will begin until the latter part of the week. The grand jury will not be assembled before tomorrow. Should an indictment be found the defense, it is understood, will ask a poseponement of the case.

The Thaw Case.

New York, Jan. 21.—Manacled to a prison guard, Harry Kendall Thaw, the scion of the Thaw family of Pittsburg, was brought from the old gray Tombs today to stand trial for shooting down and killing Architect Stanford White on the roof of Madison Square Garden last June on account of jealousy of his artist model wife, Evelyn Thaw. Pallid from his months confinement in the Tombs cell, Thaw's health seemed much improved by his incarceration. His arraignment today was purely formal, and he will be remanded back to the Tombs to await the real beginning of his trial in a few days.

The trial was adjourned until next Wednesday. The prisoner was brought over to the prison pen in the court building, but did not appear in the court room.

Conditions in Venezuela

Havana, Cuba, Jan. 21.—Intrigues without number are the order of affairs in Venezula today. Countless plots and counter plots are being hatched by the enemies and friends of President Castro. President Castro's condition is serious, but not necessarily critical. Even in his illness, Castro is the victim of an intrigue peculiar in its nature to Latin-American politics. He is in the worst stage of suffering from an obnoxious disease. His contamination was brought about by intriguers who conspired with a woman in an effort to kill him by disease when direct attempts at assassination were deemed inexpedient.

Gov. Higgins Sinking.

Olean, N. Y., Jan. 21—Gov. Higgins' condition at 10 o'clock this morning is more serious than last night. He is able to take no nourishment and is gradually sinking. The family is at his bedside, and the end is expected momentarily.

Fifty-ninth Congress.

Washington, Jan. 21.

SENATE.

The republicans of the Senate today reached an agreement on the Brownsville affair. Senator Foraker offered a modification of his original resolution, reading as follows:

"Resolved, That without questioning the legality or the justice or any act of the President in relation thereto the committee on military affairs is, etc., authorized to conduct an investigation into the facts of the Brownsville affray."

This is entirely satisfactory to Senator Lodge and other friends of the President and to the chief executive himself.

In presenting his compromise resolution Mr. Foraker declared that the modification did not change the scope of the inquiry he had insisted upon from the first and he said it had his support as had that of his party colleagues.

Mr. Lodge, recognized as the President's spokesman, announced that the resolution had his hearty support, as it excluded entirely from the controversy the action of the President. "I hope it will pass exactly as it is," he said.

There was a clamor for recognition from the democratic side. Mr. Bacon inquired of Mr. Lodge whether the resolution in its present form did not go even furthur than the Blackburn resolution. The Massachusetts Senator responded that it did.

The Senate passed the House bill reappointing Judge Geo. Gray of Delaware a regnet of the Smithsonian Institution.

Senator Tillman then took the floor to answer Mr. Spooner's attack made upon him last week.

HOUSE.

When the House met today the pension appropriation bill was submitted. It carries a total of $138,138,500 a decrease of over $2,000,000 from the appropriation for the current year.

The bill eliminates nine of the eighteen pension agencies. President Roosevelt will name the offices that will continue in service.

The House unanimously passed the Hull bill increasing the efficiency of the artillery.

The House passed the Tillman bill prohibiting national banks from contributing to any elections and prohibiting any corporations from contributing to federal election.

Destructive Fire in Norfolk.

The most spectacular fire in the history of Norfolk occured yesterday when a spark from a locomotive of the Norfolk and Western Railway set fire to grass near the plant of the Atlantic Creosoting Company and, fanned by a 40-mile wind, the flames extended to the great lumber piles and oil tanks of the company, causing a loss of $60,000 and the probably fatal injury of one man. Seventy-five thousand gallons of creosoting fluid in the tanks exploded and 2,500 barrels of oil were consumed, together with several hundred thousand feet of creosoted timber and piling, valued at about $25,000.

The pier of the company extending about 600 feet into the Elizabeth river, on which were several hundred barrels of oil, was destroyed and only the most heroic efforts saved the immense factory of the Cotton Oil and Fiber Company which adjoins the burned plant.

One hundred sailors from the St. Helena training station aided the fire-fighting force of the creosoting company in combatting the fire and one of them, H. A. Matt, a coal passer on the training ship Richmond, was overcome by heat and smoke. He was removed to a hospital where he is expected to die.

The immense piles of timber and two big tanks of oil about 200 feet away, containing 75,000 gallons, were quickly ignited.

FRICTION IN JAMAICA.

International complications have been caused by serious friction between Governor Swettenham, British executive of Jamaica, and Rear Admiral Davis, in command of the American warships sent to Kingston by order of the Washington authorities for humane purposes.

Admiral Davis with the battleships Missouri and Indiana and the gunboat Yankton sailed Saturday afternoon, the British Governor having peremptorily ordered the admiral to re-embark the bluejackets landed to guard the ruins of the American consulate and assist in keeping order.

The British Governor objected to the firing of a salute by the American warships in his honor and declared there was no need for American aid.

Correspondence passed between the Governor and the Admiral, in which the former insultingly questioned the veracity and the motives of the American officer, and peremptorily ordered him to re-embark his men.

The Admiral then called on the Governor, and when that official purposely kept him waiting he told the Governor's aide to inform the Governor that as he did not desire American aid the Admiral had countermanded President Roosevelt's order dispatching a supply ship with food for the relief of sufferers.

A brief meeting followed between the Governor and Admiral, in which the former was very sarcastic in his farewell remarks.

Admiral Davis says the Governor was unequal to the task of relieving distress. The conditions are deplorable.

Citizens of Kingston suggest that the Governor be asked to resign.

Some construe the Governor's action as inspired by resentment of President Roosevelt's attitude toward Jamaican negroes on the Panama canal.

In an official report Rear Admiral Davis says the Jamaican authorities declined his offer to land wrecking parties, but that later, by request, he landed bluejackets to prevent mutiny at the penitentiary, but these were withdrawn.

Fearful Accident.

A car with 500 kegs of powder exploded just as an accomodation train on the Big Four was passing at Sandford, Ind., Saturday evening.

The entire passenger train and eight freight cars were demolished, and every house in the village sustained damage.

Bodies were hurled hundreds of feet into adjacent fields and woods, torn to pieces or caught in the debris, where they were burned, together with the still living victims of the catastrophe, by the fire which broke out immediately after the crash.

The explosion was heard 30 miles, people thinking an earthquake had occurred.

The people of Sandford worked heroically to save the injured, but there was no efficient fire department, and the intense heat soon drove the rescuers away.

All the telegraph and telephone wires were torn down, and help could not be obtained until someone had covered the three miles to Terre Haute on foot.

Theories as to what caused the powder to explode differ.

R. E. Lee Camp's Banquet.

The closing scenes in connection with the one hundredth anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee were enacted last Saturday night at Confederate Veterans' Hall, and it proved to be one of the happiest gatherings ever held under the auspices of R. E Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans. There was a large attendance of members and friends of the organization, and all present were much pleased with the entertainment. The members of the Woman's Auxiliary had prepared the banquet in the most delicate and inviting manner, and everything that could in any way have added to the enjoyment of the assemblage had been anticipated. The menu was well-chosen, and the beautiful manner in which the tables had been prepared was justly admired by all present. But apart from this sine qua non of a reunion, there was a flow of soul which animated all present. The addresses, which were apt and pointed, were delivered by residents of Alexandria, and they spoke with ease and from the soul. In fact they were at their best, and felt perfectly at home with their own people for their auditors.

Hon. John Lamb was to deliver the eulogy upon General R. E. Lee, but he was unavoidably prevented from coming from Ashland to this city.

Rev. C. H. Bulla, pastor of the M. E. Church South, was called upon to take Mr. Lamb's place. His response was impromptu, but he proved himself equal to the occasion in every way. As was suggested in this column a few days ago, that it is difficult say anything in reference to Robert E Lee that has not substantially been uttered during the past two score years, but Mr Bulla's portrayal of the chieftain threw a number of pictures upon the screen which probably had not heretofore been studied as closely as they might have been. His address was all that could have been desired and was much enjoyed by his audience.

Mr. John M. Johnson had been selected to respond to the toast, "The Confederate Soldier," and, having been one, he was perfectly at home with his theme. His picture of the faithful soldier who had cast his lot with the people of his section, his conflicts, sufferings and self-denial during the four years' civil war were listened to with close attention. The enthusiasm which he manifested throughout his address was shared by the audience, numbers of whom "had also been Confederate soldiers."

The response of Mr. C. C. Carlin to the toast, 'Sons of Veterans," was one of the happiest efforts of his life—if not his chef d'ouvre. His speech was well conceived and well-delivered, and it would have been profitable for all sons of Confederate Veterans to have heard it, as eremany years shall have elapsed it will be incumbent upon them to perpetuate the sacred memories of their fathers.

Mr. S. G. Brent followed Mr. Carlin in a brief address on similar lines. He handled his subject with earnestness and his speech was much enjoyed.

The reading of General Lee's Farewell Address, at one time the last number on the programme at these reunions, was the first last night. This pleasant duty was performed by Adjutant Charles S. Taylor in an impressive manner. Mr. Taylor also read "In Virginia."

Commander Wm. H. May presided and acted as toastmaster. After having called the company to order he delivered a short but appropriate speech in which he referred to the great commander whose birth was being celebrated. His remarks were well-chosen and were enjoyed by his hearers.

The invocation was made by Rev. Dr. W. F. Fisher.

There was another interesting incident in connection with the reunion of 1907 which brought forth memories of other days—the reading of a letter from Captain J. V. Davis, who for more than half of his life was the popular superintendent of the National Cemetery at this place. The captain expressed his regret at not being able to be present, as in bygone years. In his letter he gave a succinct and interesting picture of the battle of Sharpsburg as he saw it.

A letter of regret at his inability to be present was also read from Gen. J. Franklin Bell, Chief of Staff, U. S. A.

During the past few years the principal speeches at these reunions have been made by gentlemen of national reputation, and they have been interesting and thrilling, but Saturday night local talent was given its full sway, and it filled the bill to the satisfaction of all.

The banquet committee was composed of Thomas Perry, chairman; Edgar Warfield, G. W. Ramsay, P. F. Gorman, F. J. Davidson, R. M. Latham and Charles S. Taylor.

The following was the menu: Oysters - Lynn Haven Bay, fried; celery, olives, mixed pickles, pickled beets, salted almonds; meats—roast turkey, currant jelly, country ham, cold tongue; salads—chicken, cold slaw, lobster, sliced tomatoes; ice cream, Confederate colors; assorted cakes; fruit—oranges malaga grapes; cigars, coffee, punch.

Forfeited His Collateral.

R. M. Gilbrey, was arrested Saturday by Lieut. Bettis and Policeman Nicholson for being over importunate in soliciting orders for enlarging pictures. The complainant, Mrs. Charles Pierpoint, claims that Gilbrey called at her home and when told that she did not want a photograph of her mother enlarged, insisted upon taking the likeness. Gilbrey left $5 collateral for his appearance in the Police Court to answer a charge of trespass. He could not be found this morning and forfeited his deposit.

Funerals.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth L. Kavan, who died Friday afternoon at her home, 415 Cameron street, took place from Mr. B. Wheatley's undertaking establishment yesterday afternoon. Rev. Father Kelly, assistant rector of St. Mary's Catholic Church, officated. Interment was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Fight on a Train.

Considerable excitement was caused on an electric train which left Washington at 12:30 o'clock last Saturday night by a fierce fight which took place in the trailer. The trouble started soon after the train left the station, and by the time it reached the north approach to the bridge the row had become so serious that the train was stopped to allow peaceable passengers to disembark. At this juncture, it is said, a colored policeman boarded the train, but for some reason made no arrests, although broken glass and bloody noses were in evidence. The train subsequently proceeded to this city, and upon arriving here a man who gave his name as William H. Foote, one of the passengers who had been handled unmercifully by his assailants, went to the station house and requested Lieutenant Smith to dress his wounds. His face was badly bruised and one eye was closed. The lieutenant complied with his request, and Foote later left for his home. He is a Southern Railway fireman. A conductor on the same road was also assaulted during the general mix-up. Lieutenant Smith obtained the names and addresses of all the combatants. The fight having occurred in Washington, the authorities of this city could make no arrests. It is said, however, that the electric railway company will investigate the matter.

Opera House Tonight.

Tonight at the Opera House Miss May Hillman will open a week's engagement by presenting a new play entitled "Charity Bess." Miss Hillman, not content with a strong acting company of dramatic people, has added some high class vaudeville numbers. Dunbar, the man of mystery; the great Gaspard, comedy cyclist, and Whipple and Pickart, who have been seen at the leading vaudeville houses throughout the East and abroad in their dances of all nations. The above are only a few of the novelties offered by this excellent company. Popular prices will prevail during the engagement. A big Saturday matinee will be presented at bargain prices.

Change in the Weather.

The rainy and warm weather of last week passed away Saturday night, and yesterday the wind blew from the northeast and clearing conditions followed. The wind had gained strength by dark and it roared until nearly daybreak this morning. The mercury in the meantime had fallen considerably, standing at 22° at 7 o'clock. During the early part of the morning spits of snow were seen. The steamer Norfolk arrived up this morning about half an hour late. Her officers report a thrilling experience last night in Chesapeake Bay. The wind blew "great guns" and there were heavy seas but the steamer rode them without damage.

Wedding.

Miss Sara Lassourrielle, of New York, and Mr. William F. Webster, a well known young gentleman of this city, were married this evening at 3 o'clock in St. Mary's Church before a large number of friends and relatives. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Kelly. Mr. and Mrs Webster will hold a reception from 4 to 6 o'clock this evening at the residence of the groom's father on Wilkes street. Later they will leave on the Norfolk steamer for an extended bridal tour through the South. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Webster will make their home in this city.

Leo P., the little son of Mr. Frank Powers, died yesterday at its home on Cameron street.

Suits.

S. J. Irby, father of Charles B. Irby, has brought suit in Washington for his son for $2,000 damages from McMahon & McDermott and the Hoffman Engineering and Contracting Company. According to the declaration, young Irby's hand was crushed January 19, 1906, while he was working for the defendants as an engineer's helper on grading work on the line of the W., A. & Mt. V. Railway.

The Southern Railway Company was sued Saturday in Washington for $25,000 damages by Barbara E. Pope, colored, of Washington, for alleged unwarranted ejection from a car of the company and for arrest. The woman was on her way to Paeonian Springs at the time.

Mrs. Nation Reappears.

Mrs. Carrie Nation delivered another address at the Opera House in this city yesterday afternoon. Her audience was of men and boys that packed the auditorium until standing room was not obtainable. A portion of the audience gave evidence of impatience, and a number of boys became noisy; but Lieut. Smith went to the front of the auditorium and announced that disorderly persons would be promptly arrested, and there was no further trouble. Mrs. Nation's appearance on the platform was heartily applauded. Her lecture was on lines similar to those of last week.

Contributions can be given to any member of the association or left at Burke and Herbert's bank. The objects and aims of this organization should appeal to all.

It's a pleasure to tell our readers about a Cough Cure like Dr. Shoop's. For years Dr. Shoop has fought against the use of Opium, Chloroform, or other unsafe ingredients commonly found in Cough remedies. Dr. Shoop, it seems, has welcomed the Pure Food and Drug Law recently enacted, for he has worked along similar lines many years. For nearly 20 years Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure containers have had a warning printed on them against Opium and other narcotic poisons. He has thus made it possible for mothers to protect their children by simply insisting on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.

Women's Pains

"I was a total wreck," writes Mrs. Beulah Rowley, of Champoeg, Oregon, "from pains I had suffered, for 4 years, every month. Sometimes I would be unconscious for 12 hours at a stretch. I did not know that anything could stop the pain entirely, but Wine of Cardui did. I advise all women suffering with painful periods to use Cardui and be relieved."

It does this by regulating the functions and toning up all the Internal female organs to health. It is a pure, specific, reliable, female remedy, with a record of 70 years of success. It has benefited a million others. Why not you? Try it.

MAGIC AND RELIGION.

Their Parting Due to the Advance of Civilization.

In west Africa the belief in a new birth without loss of identity is proved by the fact that when a baby arrives in a family it is shown a selection of small articles belonging to deceased members, and the thing which the child catches hold of identifies him as "Uncle John" or "Cousin Emma," and so forth. So far as this belief prevails it is held by some that garments once worn or other objects which have been in intimate contact with a human being are penetrated by his personality and remain, as it were, united with him for good or ill.

In nearly all stages of civilization now to be found in the world what we call supernatural beings were concerned with the initiation of the magician. The schism between magic and religion was a later development of civilization. When it occurred, as the history of heresy in Europe and the witch trials teach, it was rather magic in its antisocial aspect than in itself which was reprobated and punished. It is strange in this connection to notice that the magician was only condemned when he departed from established custom and established beliefs which involved a severance from the community and an imputation of antisocial ends. Practices essentially magical might be incorporated in religious rites and exercised for what was believed to be the general good. In such a case they have continued to be exercised with general assent in the highest forms of religion.—London Hospital.

ODD MARRIAGE CUSTOM.

Porches as Wedding Certificates on the Island of Jersey.

Among Jerseymen proper—that is to say, among the descendants of the original inhabitants of the island and not the English or French residents there—a very curious and interesting old marriage custom exists.

Upon the completion of the ceremony and, if in strict accordance with tradition, before the happy couple take up residence in their new abode the stone slab at the top of the porch containing the front door is inscribed with the initials of the bridegroom, those of the bride, the date of the ceremony and two hearts intwined, the latter being an emblem of their intermingled love and the whole forming a most lasting and public certificate of marriage.

Occasionally, however, a little difficulty arises. The bride may meet with an early death, and in the course of time the widower may desire to reenter the holy state of matrimony. Having fulfilled his desire, it appears rather puzzling to know what to do about the inscription.

In some cases, therefore, the initials and date of the first wedding have been erased and those of the subsequent ceremony substituted, while in others the initials of the second wife and the date have been added below the first, a second pair of intwined hearts being thought unnecessary. The letters are usually from six to nine inches in height, so that they may be easily read across the road.—London Mail.

Victims of a False Prophet.

Just before the opening of the Kaffir rebellion in South Africa, about the middle of the last century, the soothsayers bade the tribes kill their cattle and destroy their crops of grain. The spirits of their ancestors were to arise and help them to exterminate every white man in the country. The advice was solemnly accepted. When the day of the great uprising arrived many of the rebels were already starving. But there came no ghostly herds of cattle out of the earth, no crops not sown with hands. Grim, terrible famine swept over the land, and in the months which followed, although the authorities did everything in their power to mitigate its horrors, 30,000 victims of a false prophet starved to death.

Ventilation.

Have we ever stopped to think how our ancestors two or three generations back lived and flourished with little or no ventilation in their sleeping apartments? The night air used to be considered a very dreadful menace to health and a sure inducer of colds. Bedrooms were kept closely shut, and yet our ancestors, many of them, were hardier than we and lived to good old ages. Animals burrow in their holes at night, breathing the same air over and over again, while birds and fowls tuck their heads under their wings. Of course ventilation is absolutely necessary for proper comfort, cleanliness and health, but people have lived on little or none of it for hundreds and thousands of years.

Another Soft Answer.

"I'm glad to say," remarked Mrs. Strongminde in an insinuating tone, "that my husband is not a sporty man."

"Oh," replied Mrs. Kaflyppe, looking very sweet and innocent, "I'm surprised to hear you say that. I had always supposed that he must have married you on a bet."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Buying or Selling?

It is told of the son of a horse dealer, a sharp lad, when once unexpectedly called upon by his father to mount a horse and exhibit its paces, the little fellow whispered the question in order to regulate how he should ride, "Are you buying or selling?"—Tit-Bits.

Beginning Over.

"Did I hear you say, old chap, that marriage has made a new man of you?"

"That's right."

"Then that wipes out that ten I owe you. Now lend me five, will you?"—Milwaukee Sentinel.

DAILY DELIVERY TO ALEXANDRIA.

A NAVAL REBUKE.

Two Admirals, a Captain and a Fool in Manila Bay.

When Dewey's fleet was at Manila the late Admiral Chichester was then a captain. On one occasion Admiral Diedrichs, the German, sent out the Irene on an unrevealed errand and without the customary notification to the commander of the blockading fleet. Admiral Dewey had suffered, he thought, sufficiently from that sort of thing, and so the admiral sent a vessel across the Irene's bows and notified her captain that she would not be permitted to depart without a statement as to her destination. It was not Admiral Diedrichs' mission to quarrel with both the American and the English fleets on this critical occasion, so he sought to find out Captain Chichester's purpose in case of a collision. Going on board Chichester's ship, he angrily exclaimed, "Did you see what Dewey did to my ship?"

"Yes," replied Chichester.

"What would you have done if it had been an English ship?"

"Well," said Chichester, conveniently assuming that the Irene's captain had sailed without orders from Diedrichs, "I'd have put my captain in arrest, and then I'd have gone on board the Olympia and apologized to Admiral Dewey for having such a fool in command of one of my ships."—Harper's Weekly.

A Poet's Homely Face.

The poet Rogers was afflicted with a notably unpleasant, cadaverous countenance, which, with all his intellectual power, was a mortification to him. To hide his annoyance, he joked about his ugliness incessantly and deceived his friends into supposing him indifferent to it. He once turned to Sydney Smith, who, with Byron and Moore, was dining with him, and said:

"Chantrey wants to perpetuate this miserable face of mine. What pose would you suggest that I should take?"

"If you really wish to spare the world as much as possible," said the wit, "I would, if I were you, be taken at my prayers, my face buried in my hands."

Rogers laughed with the other persons present, but he shot a malignant glance at the jester and, it is said, never fully forgave him for the bonmot.

Thankfulness.

I am no friend to the people who receive the bounties of Providence without visible gratitude. When the sixpence falls into your hat you may laugh. When the messenger of an unexpected blessing takes you by the hand and lifts you up and bids you walk you may leap and run and sing for joy, even as the lame man whom St. Peter healed skipped piously and rejoiced aloud as he passed through the beautiful gate of the temple. There is no virtue in solemn indifference. Joy is as much a duty as beneficence is. Thankfulness is the other side of mercy.—Henry Van Dyke.

Facial Horticulture.

"Did he have whiskers?" asked her mother, thinking perhaps it was the proprietor.

"No," said the four-year-old; "he didn't have whiskers, but he had the roots."—Harper's Weekly.

Make a note now to get Ely's Cream Balm if you are troubled with nasal catarrh, hay fever or cold in the head. It is purifying and soothing to the sensitive membrance that line the air-passages. It is made to cure the disease, not to fool the patient by a short, deceptive relief. There is no cocaine nor mercury in it. Do not be talked into taking a substitute for Ely's Cream Balm. All druggists sell it. Price 50c. Mailed by Ely Bros., 56 Warren Street, New York.

Croup can positively be stopped in 20 minutes. No vomiting—nothing to sicken or distress your child. A sweet, pleasant, and safe Syrup, called Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure, does the work and does it quickly. Dr. Shoop's Croup Cure is for Croup alone, remember. It does not claim to cure a dozen ailments. It's for Croup, that's all. Sold by E. S. Leadbeater & Sons, druggists.
